Title: City of Buffalo Bicycle Riverwalk Legislation
Document Last Updated in Database: November 13, 2017

Abstract

Chapter 91, Article I of Buffalo, New York's Charter and Ordinances addresses the activities allowed on the Riverwalk path. Riverwalk is a paved, double-lane pedestrian bicycle trail that travels 13.2 miles north from downtown Buffalo to Tonawanda, New York. The legislation states: "No person shall operate or drive any vehicle which is propelled by any power other than muscular power on that property in the City known as the "Riverwalk."

Article I: Riverwalk

[Derived from Sec. 3.1 of Ch. IV of the Charter and Ordinances, 1974]

§ 91-1 Motor vehicles prohibited.

No person shall operate or drive any vehicle which is propelled by any power other than muscular power on that property in the City known as the "Riverwalk." The Riverwalk is generally described, for the purposes of this section, as follows: a paved pedestrian bicycle path running from Erie Street in downtown Buffalo, running behind the Waterfront Village into and through LaSalle Park to Porter Avenue to the New York State Thruway right-of-way, under the railroad tracks over the pedestrian bridge to Sheridan Terrace. The Riverwalk thus continues at West Ferry and Niagara Streets over the West Ferry Bridge to Broderick Park, along Squaw Island to the International Railroad Bridge crossing again to Niagara Street, extending along the New York State Thruway right-of-way to the Ontario Street boat launch, then crossing over on the Irene K. Gardner Pedestrian Bridge to Niagara Street.
