

Topic: Healthy Communities; Transportation & Land Use Planning; Vulnerable Populations
Resource Type: Planning Documents and Policy Statements
State: New York
Jurisdiction Type: Municipal
Municipality: Buffalo
Year (adopted, written, etc.): 2003
Community Type - applicable to: Urban; Suburban
Title: Infrastructure Upgrades and Multi-Modal Transportation
Document Last Updated in Database: March 29, 2018

Abstract

Buffalo holds not only violators of the ordinances responsible and liable for infringements, but they also hold owners, proprietors, lessors, agents, tenants, managers, superintendents, captains, etc. responsible and liable for any unlawful emission.

Resource

Article III: Penalties

§ 66-20 Penalties for offenses.

Each unlawful emission of dense smoke, dust, soot, cinders, fly ash, noxious acids, fumes or gases shall constitute a separate violation. A person participating in any such violation, either as owner, proprietor, lessee, agent, tenant, manager, superintendent, captain, engineer, fireman or janitor or otherwise, shall be liable therefor and subject to the fines or penalties as provided in Chapter 1, General Provisions, Article III.

You can find the Buffalo, New York's Full list of ordinances here:

<https://ecode360.com/BU1237>

Part 1 General Standards; Fuel- or Refuse-Burning Plants and Devices

Article III: Penalties

§ 66-20 Penalties for offenses.

Each unlawful emission of dense smoke, dust, soot, cinders, fly ash, noxious acids, fumes or gases shall constitute a separate violation. A person participating in any such violation, either as owner, proprietor, lessee, agent, tenant, manager, superintendent, captain, engineer, fireman or janitor or otherwise, shall be liable therefor and subject to the fines or penalties as provided in Chapter 1, General Provisions, Article III.